

African Swine Fever

Leftover staple foods from fresh or cured pork, if left in the environment, can pose a serious risk of disease transmission to healthy animals; therefore they must only be disposed in closed waste containers!

